CONSOLIDATION

Meeting at Casa Verdugo—A Roorback—Letter from M. M. Eshelman

Except within the more or less sacred radius that surrounds Casa Verdugo, North Glendale's streets are lightless on dark nights. But the long-headed and progressive boosters of the Glendale Valley Improvement Association saw to it that the full moon shone down serenely from a cloudless sky, and that the gasoline torches in Mr. Odell's front porch added to the cheery atmosphere which immersed the invading company, and with strict impartiality embraced the audience which filled all the seats provided, and stood along the sidewalk. It was asserted by an anti-annexationist that the Glendale city people had "packed" the meeting. Packed it, mind you! Why, the auditorium extended to the top of Mount Verdugo, and even to the Los Feliz hills beyond the rushing river, and really there was room for more without serious danger to most sensitive corns—it was not full, nothing was, but the rollicking old moon.

Mr. A. M. Watson, who came to this valley some time in the latter part of the last century, spoke on "Glendale Twenty-three Years Ago," and gave reminiscences of famous jackrabbits, horned toads, rattlesnakes and road runners that he had known. He then drew a picture, for the delectation and information of the audience, of the Glendale of the future. But Mr. Watson is not a poet only, and he got down to hard facts, and presented some arguments in favor of a consolidation of Glendale, North, West, South and East Glendale, Casa Verdugo, Tropico, and all the other imaginary subdivisions of the valley hereabouts that the minds of men have laid down contrary to the obvious intentions of nature, into one municipality, which none of the antis have as yet answered. Mr. Rudell, of West Glendale, spoke after Mr. Watson. He confessed that at first the idea of going into Glendale did not appeal to him favorably, but when he heard the arguments in favor of it he was convinced and converted, and is now among the "boosters." Mr. Lane, a Glendale city trustee, was the next speaker. He alluded to the benefits derived by the people of Glendale; spoke of the natural beauties of the valley, and its immense possibilities when all unite to build here a city which will attract the favorable attention of the rest of the world. He alluded to the famous Smiley Heights at Redlands, and expressed the belief that some day there would be a railroad to the top of Mt. Verdugo, from which eminence the observer could look down upon the kingdoms of the world and remark upon the happy lot of the people of Glendale when that city should know no North, South, East or West.

After this there was an intermission declared, to give those present an opportunity to join the association, and ten new members were added to the roll. During intermission there were some warm arguments between small groups of pros and antis. Mr. Oliver, who is prominent among those who are satisfied with existing conditions, was particularly earnest in his expressions regarding the "Glendale bunch" that wanted to do things to him and his guileless neighbors. After the intermission there was a call for Mr. Oliver to come to the platform and express himself, and he was invited by Chairman Usilton to do so, but declined. There were a few antis in the audience, but they were backward about going forward, and the pros had it all their own way except in the little discussions on the side. Sidney Dell, Esq., was called upon, and responded in his usual happy manner. He had a shoestring line in his mind as to the limits of the proposed Greater City on the north, outlined so as to skip the misguided few who didn't want to go into the corporation, but he favored the project, and was quite willing to be annexed himself. Mr. Clotworthy spoke in favor of consolidation, and in a breezy manner outlined its benefits. He said that no section could advance which was divided up into little cliques and imaginary divisions; it was this sort of thing that had kept China back for centuries, and there was no place for it in America.

Mr. Odell, being called upon, gave a leaf from his experience as a builder. He had built something like twenty-five houses in the Casa Verdugo section, and had been held up for $15 for every one of them connected with the electric light system. He was of the impression that they do these things better in Glendale, and favored going into that municipality. He raised a laugh by his allusion to Casa Verdugo as a "good restaurant," saying that there was some objection in Glendale to taking Casa Verdugo in, as they didn't want good restaurants in Glendale.

Notwithstanding some informal objections raised around the edges, the meeting seemed unanimously in favor of consolidation, and everybody appeared to be in a harmonious mood when adjournment took place.

CONSOLIDATION WILL RESULT IN MUCH GOOD.

Editor News: When Glendale took steps to incorporate as a city of the sixth class, I was in favor of all the territory between the Los Angeles river and the mountains incorporating and making it a second Hollywood, instead of "higgling" along in small pieces. However, Glendale has "higgled" into considerable condition by forging ahead with becoming energy.

Who's Guernsey?

I have not changed my mind as to the great benefits of all the territory remaining undertaking the building of a beautiful and strong city of the fifth class.

For Tropico to incorporate means the support of another set of officers, whereas one city can do the business with the same officers. The one lighting plant will serve all the people in the consolidated regions, and when it comes to sewers, the strength of the whole far outweighs the strength of two or three small regions. To become a part of Los Angeles at this time does not seem wise. I clip from this morning's Herald the following with reference to the vast outlying territory of that city, places recently annexed. Listen what the budget committee has met:

"One of the most serious problems the committee had to meet was making proper provision for the annexed districts. These annexations cost more than they produce in revenue, and the old city has to suffer in proportion."

If the annexed portions of Los Angeles cost more than they produce in the matter of taxes, is there any certainty that the more densely populated portions will hurry to tax themselves to build up the recently annexed portions? And if the city will not do the beneficent act for those who have rushed into the city limits, will Tropico fare better if she puts herself under the city's care?

Think it over, neighbor; think it over seriously. Let a public spirit, which will embrace the development and growth of every part of our beautiful valley, lay hold of every heart, then, with one strong pull altogether, every portion of this territory can be made the most beautiful in Southern California. Why not? It is all pretty by nature, so let each help to lift a little and get the benefits. It never pays to get apart, where getting together means everything good and useful and beautiful.

M. M. ESHLEMAN.

1253 Blanche Avenue, Tropico, Cal.

Some anti-consolidationists are circulating an alleged argument to the effect that there is an agreement or understanding that in the event of Glendale being raised to the rank of a fifth class city, it will buy the property of the Consolidated Water Company for a consideration of $300,000! This preposterous story might be swallowed by some person of peculiar mental caliber, but will, of course, have no weight with any voter who has practiced the art of thinking. In the first place, no one can possibly bind the city to any future action. Should it be desired some time to go into the water business as a municipality, the question could only come to an issue after a long campaign, during which all the facts in relation to the matter would no doubt be presented and discussed on every side. The question of price would be the one of prime importance, if it was proposed to buy anything, and the majority of the people in this section are not likely to agree to spend $300,000 simply to oblige somebody! Judging of the matter offhand, we should consider the sum named a high price for all the property of all the water companies in the valley, and the idea of anyone considering seriously such a figure for the property of any one company is a pipe dream of the rarest fancy.

In the second place, Mr. Griswold, part owner of the company referred to, stands just where he did five years ago in regard to consolidation, when he publicly went on record as being in favor of Tropico being incorporated in Glendale. In the next place—well, there is no next place—dream again!

EASTERN STAR PICNIC.

On Sept. 9th, Admission Day, the Eastern Stars intend to hold their annual picnic at Verdugo Park. The members will assemble in the afternoon and supper will be served in the early evening. The committee on arrangements appointed by Mrs. Daniel Campbell, worthy matron, consists of Mr. E. U. Emery, Mrs. John Hunchberger, Mr. Thomas Ogg and Mrs. Scott Johnson.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish hereby to express our thanks to the many friends who were of such great help to us during the illness of the dear one whom we have lost and who for the last sad ceremony made such beautiful tributes of flowers and gave other evidence of sympathy.

OUR SCHOOLS

Facts of Interest in Regard to Them Financial Condition of the Districts—Comparisons

The summer vacation draws near to an end and teachers and pupils alike are counting the days elapsing before they take up their work again in the schools. And the taxpayer, who like the bridegroom at the wedding, is apt to be overlooked, is also interested in the matter. And then there is society at large, which has a vital interest in the business of training citizens for the heavy responsibilities devolving upon them—indeed, everybody is very much interested in the schools and the reporter has been endeavoring to procure information for this large constituency, with the following results:

First, we will deal with the Glendale High school which represents more directly than the grammar schools the whole community, as it comprises grammar school districts of Glendale, Tropico, West Glendale, Ivanhoe, La Crescenta, Eagle Rock and Washington Park, the latter being cut off from the Tropico district two years ago.

The assessed valuation of the high school district is for this year $5,509,220. Its bonded indebtedness is $66,500.

Balance on hand at beginning of school year, 1909	$15,791.00
Receipts direct tax on dist.	19,025.95
Received for school lot, etc.	13,527.00
Miscellaneous (approx.)	1,698.05
Total	$50,042.00

Expenditures.

Paid teachers, men	$4700
Do. women	8333	$13,033.00
Paid janitor, etc.		3,580.85
Supplies, general		10,924.65
Library and laboratory sup.		975.85
Total for year		$28,514.35

Included in the above expenditure for supplies is the sum of $562.50 paid Contractor Bliss, presumably for extras on the new high school building. Also included is the necessarily large expenditure for furniture. The expenditure for supplies, therefore, is unusually large on account of the equipment of the new building and by no means to be taken as indicative of the cost of an average year. On August 19th of the present year there was on hand with which to begin the new year the sum of $1887.26, an unusually small sum with which to start the year as other funds are not available until the present year's taxes come in.

The average attendance for the year was 128; average cost per pupil $144.74. For the purpose of comparison the following figures from other districts are here given, the amounts being average cost per pupil: Alhambra $143.30; Burbank 135.89; Citrus 99.81; Compton 142; Covina 165.31; El Monte 90.16; Inglewood 164.81; Long Beach 6[illegible]; Hollywood 99.77; Monrovia 133.68; Whittier 77.36. The tax levy last year for the Glendale high school district was .83, apportioned as follows: For bonds .15, high school building .13, special .35, do .20. Special taxes are recommended by the high school board and collected by the county in accordance with the board's recommendation.

Following is a list of teachers employed for the coming year; term beginning Sept. 12th next, with salaries attached:

Geo. U. Moyse, principal	$2400
Harry L. Howe, vice principal	1800
C. L. Gates, commercial dept.	1350
Ethel Hume Flood	1300
Margaret Knepper	1300
Jessie Moore	1300
Nora L. Warner	1300
Belle Hall (drawing)	1250
Mr. G. Taylor	1200
Miss Bessie Field	1100
Dora L. Gibson, (music)	1100
Jane Hawk	1100

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

The Glendale grammar school district comprises considerable territory outside the Glendale city limits on the north, including the Casa Verdugo section, and is assessed at a valuation of $1,973,613. The bonded indebtedness is $25,000. It commenced the school year last season with a balance on hand of ..... $ 1,152.86

Receipts, state and county	10,845.00
From special tax	3,877.43
Total		$15,875.29

Expenditures.

Salaries 11 teachers (women)	$ 9,683.75
Contingent exp., books, repairs, etc.	5,147.09
Library	30.75	$14,861.59
Balance on hand July 1		$ 1,006.45

The contingent expenses include several labor and plumbing bills for the Fourth street school and items for the equipment of the Sixth street school building.

The average attendance for the two schools was 364.

Some comparative figures are as follows, the total sums being the state and county money received:

Glendale, av. attendance	364	$10,845
Alhambra, av. attendance	593	22,150
Covina, av. attendance	372	14,087
Inglewood, av. attendance	256	9,408
So. Pasadena, av. attend.	513	16,451
Whittier, av. attendance	661	24,608

For the coming year the board asks for the sum of $3500 by special tax.

The teachers selected for the coming year, with salaries, are as follows:

Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, principal, per month	$130
Miss Ida M. White, principal	125
Mrs. Anderson, music	125
Miss McIntyre	90
Miss Christensen	90
Miss Hatch	85
Miss Paul	85
Miss Schultz	85
Miss Hollingsworth	80
Miss Nagle	80
Miss Lampson	75
Miss Ward	75
One janitor at	50
One janitor at	45

The state and county money ordinarily supposed to furnish the fund for payment of teachers' salaries is insufficient for that purpose, and therefore a portion of the special fund will be used.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The following teachers will compose the high school faculty for the ensuing year: Mr. Moyse, principal; Mr. Howe, vice-principal; Mr. Gates, Miss Knepper, Miss Flood, Miss Moore, Miss Hall, Miss Field, Mrs. Gibson, Miss Hawk, Miss Warner and Mr. Taylor.

There is an increase of two members in the faculty this year, making the total number of members twelve. Out of the twelve, nine were employed her last year. The thre new members are Miss Hawk, Mr. Taylor and Miss Warner, who taught in the Glendale High School four years ago. Miss Warner will be warmly welcomed by a large number of pupils and old friends in the valley.

It has been decided that before school opens again all the stairways and halls are to be covered with cork linoleum, to deaden the noise made by passing to and fro in the halls, which has formerly been very annoying during recitation hours.

Mr. J. R. Galt, of Los Angeles, has been employed by the Board to superintend the care of the yard and building. Mr. Galt began work Monday in clearing away the weeds back of the baseball diamond. He also intends to wash and properly varnish all the desks and seats in the building.

Further improvements are being made on the grounds, in the way of various buildings. A lattice house is to be erected for the botany pupils, in which they can carry on their gardening and various experiments; also a toolhouse and bicycle shed; while the pupils, one and all, will be delighted to hear that the basketball grounds are to be furnished with bleachers.

FIVE O'CLOCK TEA ON FIFTH STREET.

Last Friday afternoon Chapter L, P. E. O., entertained in honor of Mrs. H. P. Smith, president of the chapter, who is soon to leave her home in Glendale for Berkeley.

The guests gathered in the artistic home of Mrs. William Goss on Fifth street, where a very pleasant afternoon was passed.

At five o'clock, Mrs. John Hunchberger gave the farewell and presented Mrs. Smith with a very handsome silver spoon, symbolical of the society, followed by a response from Mrs. Smith, after which tea was served.

Mrs. Smith has been president of the society since March and a member for the past four years.

Rehearsals for the annual show of the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Institute of Banking have been going steadily forward every night for the past three weeks, both caste and chorus. The show will be a musical comedy, "The Maid of Manalay," by Harry Girard and Joseph Blethon, composers of "The Alaskan." It will be presented Sept. 26 to Oct. 1 at the Auditorium.

The chorus will contain over one hundred girls and members of the Institute. They will appear as Hawaiian natives and sailors on Admiral Att's ship. The songs and chorus numbers are all beautiful, and give indication of the best show, by a long way, that the bank boys have ever presented.

CONSOLIDATION MEETING.

The Socialists held a meeting at K. of P. hall on Tuesday evening which was well attended. The subject of "Consolidation" was discussed, the principal speakers being Mr. W. C. Wattles of Tropico and A. R. Holston, Esq., of Los Angeles.

Both speakers made strong pleas in favor of a united community, there being apparently no opposition to the views expressed upon the subject.

It will pay you to trade at Valley Supply Co. 308 Brand Boulevard because full weight is guaranteed and quality is assured.

All present were unanimous in saying it was a most enjoyable occasion. The ladies were complimented on the entertainment and lunch by the gentlemen present, and urged to do likewise at some future date and were assured they would have their co-operation always at such functions.

Rev. F. D. Finn will preach again next Sunday morning and evening. All are welcome.

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY.

Tuesday evening Mrs. R. E. Chase entertained in honor of her sister, Miss Pirtle and Mr. Ernest Owen who announced their engagement and marriage which it to take place Sept. 14. The guests collected on the lawn, after which they marched into the house in time to Lohengrin's wedding march. Upon entering each was presented with two united hearts bearing the names of the honor guests and the date, Sept. 14.

The house was tastefully decorated in asparagus plumosus and white ribbon. In the dining room Miss Pirtle found a table heaped high with gifts which proved to be both useful and otherwise.

The guests were then favored by several musical selections by Miss Emma Williams and Miss Leila Butler. After which heart-shaped refreshments were served.

The out-of-town guests were, Mrs. Gibbs of Redlands and Miss Owen of Los Angeles, sisters of Mr. Owen; Miss Lelia Butler, Mr. Phil Berneys, Mr. and Mrs. Hutton, Miss Hutton, Miss eHlen Robinson and Mr. Cook, all of Los Angeles.

SCANTLAND-UTTER.

Miss Mary Viley Utter of Glendale and Mr. Robert Roy Scantland of Los Angeles were quietly married at the home of the bride, 300 Moore avenue, August 23, at high noon. After a few weeks' stay at Catalina they will be at home to their many friends at 2208 Marathon street, Los Angeles.

A BIG BRASS BAND.

Glendale is certainly developing rapidly, along with our other improvements we can now include a brass band. The members have already had two rehearsals, the first last Friday evening and the second on Tuesday evening.

The following compose the members, F. E. Thorpe, director and cornetist; W. M. Wright, M. Sprinkle, Mr. Cary, C. Arrowsmith, cornets; Percy McIntyre and J. Heniger, trombones; Wilmot McIntyre, P. Butterfield, B. Close, E. R. Naudain, Mr. Archer, clarinets; Frank Hilliard, baritone; Mr. Muhleman, saxaphone; and C. B. Furst, tuba.

F. E. Thorpe is considered an expert solo cornetist, and is especially fitted in many ways for a director. All the members are enthusiastic and Glendale can look forward to some good music for the near future.

MOONLIGHT PICNIC.

When the great full moon peeped over the mountains to the east, a merry party of former pupils of the Glendale Union High School assembled at Verdugo Park and enjoyed a jolly moonlight picnic under the branches of the tall trees that abound in the park, a few nights ago. Singing and recalling reminiscences of school days at the old High were enjoyed. The party consisted of Misses Eulalia Richardson, Lillian Ellias, Alla Stone, Claire Glenn, Ruth Gilhousen, Margaret Eddleman, Emily Ellias, Alma Stone, May Cornwall and Blanche Davenport; Messrs. Albert Cornwall, Richard Stine, Frank Mosher, Dan Kelty, Harry Lynch, Granville McClure, Hal Davenport, Ray Goode and Harry Flower.

LABOR DAY AND ADMISSION DAY HOLIDAYS.

Monday, Sept. 5th and Friday 9th, are legal holidays and the postoffice (Glendale branch) will be open from the usual opening hour, 8:00 a. m., until 12:00 noon.

W. H. HARRISON, P. M.

CITY TRUSTEES

No Tax Lexy for Light Department This Year—Street Supt. Sinclair Tenders His Resignation

All members present. Reports were received from various committees. It seemed to be the sense of the meeting that the health officer should make more frequent reports; none being furnished regularly. The building inspector reported that it would cost about $80 to move the building now on the northeast corner of Fourth and Glendale avenue across the street to the city lot, make cesspool connections, furnish foundation, etc. The manager of the electric light department gave an estimate as to requirements for the coming year, stating that no tax levy would be required for his department.

Mr. E. M. McClure and Mr. H. Hall appeared before the board and made a protest against the Valley Lumber Company being permitted to extend its yard as near to residences in the rear as is being done at present; stating that lumber is being piled near the residence of Mr. Hall. The city marshal was instructed to serve notice on Manager Boyd to refrain from extending the area of the yard, and further action was referred to committee of the whole.

A petition was received from G. Cornwell for free license to peddle fruit, on the ground that he is an old soldier. Same was granted.

The resignation of F. R. Sinclair from the position of street superintendent was received, and the same was placed on file, to be acted upon at some future time. A resolution was passed ordering in the work on the improvement of Fourth street between Adams street and Verdugo road. Trustee Watson brought to the attention of the board the fact that some of the improved streets, where traffic is heavy, are getting in bad condition, and it will be necessary to set aside more money than heretofore for repair of these thoroughfares. It was agreed that portions of these streets will have to be repaired and fortified before the winter rains set in. There being only $200 in the street fund makes it impossible to do much in this direction at present. The matter was referred to the board of public works. A copy of the Los Angeles city ordinances was ordered to be bought. The city marshal reported having cleared up parkways on twenty miles of street at an exepnditure of $153. This brought up a long discussion as to the respective duties of city marshal and street superintendent.

An ordinance granting to E. D. Goode the right to construct, maintain and operate for the period of forty-seven years an electric railroad over certain streets was taken up and passed third reading, and was adopted.

A TRAGIC END.

The latter part of last week C. O. Pulliam and his assistant received a call from the coroner sending them to Sunland. Upon arriving there the deputy sheriff conducted them to a hillside beyond the town where the remains of a man's body had been found August 18th by Thomas Grider, while rabbit hunting. He had been previously discovered by coyotes and nothing was left but the clothing and skeleton which had been torn to pieces and was scattered about the hillside.

The body proved to be that of Austin Montrose, who arrived in Sunland about nine months ago. Those who were acquainted with him say he appeared to be a man of about sixty-five years of age. He claimed to be a prospector and when last seen, about the first of June, he was starting out with his knapsack on a prospecting expedition. Previous to his departure he had been imbibing rather freely for several months and as he was a victim of heart trouble, the combination is supposed to be the cause of his death.

He has a son, P. S. Montrose, superintendent of an oil company in Greenfield, Ind., who has been heard from and who wants the remains temporarily interred in Forest Lawn.

NO PLACE LIKE GLENDALE.

City Engineer Edward M. Lynch returned from San Diego Tuesday evening, to which city he had gone for a three days' outing. Mr. Lynch was accompanied by Mrs. Lynch and baby Lynch and by Mrs. Lynch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Woods of Berkeley. Although admitting the many attractions of the city on the bay, the whole party are impressed more than ever with the fact that they know of no other spot where there are so many things to attract the home lover, as in Glendale and vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Wood, although for many years residents of the northern portion of the state, think very highly of this section and are quite likely to return here at some time in the near future with the idea of making it their home.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION MEETING.

The Glendale Valley Improvement association will hold a special meeting in Filger's Opera house next Thursday evening, Sept. 1st. The program will be as follows: Piano solo, Miss Lillian Ward; address, John Robert White, Jr., president board of trustees, on "Consolidation"; vocal solo, Mrs. Walter C. Fraley; address, P. S. McNutt, Esq., on "Consolidation"; dialogue, Misses Lillian and Birdie Shropshire. Everybody invited.

TO ADVERTISERS AND OTHERS.

Patrons are again reminded that the NEWS goes to press on Thursday, and everything intended for its columns should be in by Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Los Angeles is going to try the publicity scheme in the management of saloons. All of these establishments are to have clear glass doors so that everything going on within can be seen by the passer-by. It is an interesting experiment well worth trying.

Extracts from the Los Angeles Express of twenty-five years ago report hot weather, the mercury marking 105 degrees in Los Angeles, and up at Newhall as high as 118, and at San Fernando 119. This is commended to the pessimists who long for a return of the "good old times." We have had a little touch of summer time during the past few days, but it has been chilly compared with the above quoted record.

An aviator writes that in his experience as a balloonist he has frequently known the balloon to fall for a hundred feet or more wtihout any apparent cause. His theory is that there are "holes" in the air, and that the aviator who comes to one will fall in. If there is any truth in this idea, then the poet Emerson was more than a poet when he wrote of "the pits of air, the gulfs of space."

The leaders of the Lincoln-Roosevelt combination in this county are facing an interesting situation. They find themselves in control of the machinery of the party, and are in all honor bound to work for the success of the Republican ticket selected at the primaries last week. And yet there are three or four candidates on that ticket to whom the league is avowedly hostile. The leaders of the "reformers" must remember that the ticket named at the primary is "the choice of the people," and no committee has the authority to change it in any respect. Saturday's convention will be well worth watching.

The city of Glendale sufffers a distinct loss when Street Superintendent Sinclair leaves its services to engage in business on his own account. Mr. Sinclair brought to the performance of his duty, when he assumed charge of our streets, correct ideas of the duties of a public servant, an intelligent mind, and years of experience as a practical worker in other lines of activity, all of which enabled him to learn quickly the details of street work, both as to the laws controlling the same and the practical details of street improvement and maintenance. The city will be very fortunate if it finds a man who can fill his place well.

The biggest surprise furnished by the late primary election is the large vote reecived by Mr. A. G. Spaulding, endorsing his candidacy for United States senator. Although he did not receive as many votes throughout the state as did John D. Works, it is asserted by his friends that he carried the majority of the legislative districts, and is thereby assured of 64 votes out of the 120 on joint ballot. To make his election sure, however, it is necessary to assume a number of things which cannot be settled positively until after the November election. It is quite probable that there will be enough Democrats in the legislature to hold the key to an interesting situation.

That the trouble-makers have not succeeded in making a breach in the friendly relations existing between President Taft and Col. Roosevelt is something that we congratulate the country upon. These two men represent a curious illustration of two entirely dissimilar minds, working each independently of the other, and by different methods, but moving unceasingly toward a common center. President Taft is gradually coming to his own and growing favorably in the estimation of the people, who will yet appreciate him, while Roosevelt is losing a little of that idolatrous spirit with which his worshipers were animated when they made a hero of him.

It is difficult to realize the awfulness of the forest fires in Idaho and Montana. The timber losses are estimated at $10,000,000, and the end is not yet. But, aside from this, the loss to the unfortunate cities, Wallace, Warden and others, is very great. Worse, however, than the loss of property is the sacrifice of life among the ranks of the brave fire fighters and the unfortunate victims in various places. It is to be hoped that the suspicion that an organized gang of incendiaries is responsible for the fires may prove untrue. It is unbelievable that there exist a sufficient number of fiends in human form to make a combination for a purpose so diabolic.

As a sample of the rank unfairness of that great reform journal, the Los Angeles Express, we note the manner in which it served up the election returns last week. The list of candidates for governor appears thus: "Johnson (L.-R.), Stanton (S. P.), Curry (S. P.), Anderson (S. P.), Ellery (S. P.)," and so on all down the line. Everybody not allied with the L.-R.'s is designated "S. P.," meaning Southern Pacific, of course. Nobody with an atom of sense believes that the Southern Pacific was behind all of these candidates, and, indeed, judging from the returns alone, there is good evidence to show that it was supporting none of them. But be that as it may, the assumption that everybody not allied with the L.-R. movement is in favor of railroad control of our politics is rank idiocy, and the constant attempt, throughout the campaign just ended, to convey this impression, will bring about results possibly not of the kind desired.

A GREAT GATHERING ON MT. WILSON.

Next Monday, astronomers representing nearly all the important nations of the world will gather in a convention at the Mt. Wilson observatories. The international meeting is held there because of the wonderful equipment of that astronomical station, which, combined with the natural advantages afforded by the high elevation and favorable atmospheric conditions, make it probably the most ideal of all similar stations in the world. There is located there the great and unique Snow telescope (horizontal), the great Carnegie reflector with its 60-inch lens, said to be the best equipped of the kind in the world, and the astrophysical observatory of the Smithsonian Institute. This rare combination of attractions will no doubt draw an unusually large body of distinguished men, and Southern California should endeavor to show some appreciation of an event that will be historical in the astronomical world.

Valuations of property there have increased a million dollars in the past year. A dozen new business blocks are in course of erection, and the demand for houses is far in excess of the supply. Saving Time or Time Tables.

To most people, especially when they are on the road, time is money, but time tables are not convertible into cash. In the pages of "Through Savage Europe" Harry De Windt gives a curious and amusing experience on a Russian railway some years ago. The patience of the Russians is in marked contrast with the impatience of American travelers. All Russians have a rooted antipathy to fast railway travel, if one may judge from an incident which occurred some years ago when I was travelling across the Caucasus from Batoum to Baku. We had reached a tunnel, at the entrance of which the train waited for at least twenty minutes.

"There is something wrong," I remarked to a fellow passenger.

"Oh, no," he replied; "we are only making up the time. This tunnel was recently made to avoid a long bend round a range of hills, and as it now cuts off several miles a short delay is necessary so as to fit in with the scheduled time."

"But surely we should save time by going on," I urged.

"Perhaps so," said my friend. "But, then, you see, they would have to alter all the time tables."

Form of Divorce In Old Rome.

In the earlier period of the Roman republic divorces were quite unknown and were rare right up to the time of the Sullan wars. In the old days the husband and wife who wished to separate appeared for the last time before the common hearth, a priest and priestess being present. As on the day of marriage, a cake of wheaten flour was presented to the husband and wife, but instead of sharing it between them they rejected it. Then, instead of prayers, they pronounced formulas of a strange, severe, spiteful character, by which the wife renounced the worship and gods of the husband. From that moment the religious bond was broken, and, the community of worship having ceased to exist, the marriage without further ado was forever dissolved.—New York American.

Floral Etymology.

"Primrose" is one of those words that have shown popular association to be stronger than etymology. It has no real connection with the rose, but is the old French "primerole" and, anyhow, means only the "prime" or first flower (more or less) of the year. Our language has insisted upon making "roses" of all sorts of flowers. We have the tuberose, which is only "tuberosa," tuberous, and the rosemary, which is "rosmarinus," dew of the sea. On the other hand the "rose" has been dropped readily enough in cases where popular fancy could not see the flower. The alchemists called green vitriol "rose of copper," "cuprirosa." In French this became "couperose," but English wore it down to the pointless "copperas."—London Chronicle.

The Dancing Mania.

The "dancing mania" of the middle ages came on the heels of the great plague known as the "black death." It was some sort of nervous disease and is now supposed to have been what is known as "St. Vitus' dance." It began in the year 1374 at Aix-la-Chapelle and spread all over Germany, the Netherlands and Italy. The dancers formed circles hand in hand and appearing to have lost all reason, continued dancing, regardless of the bystanders, for hours together until in their wild delirium they fell to the ground in sheer exhaustion. Panting and foaming at the mouth, they would suddenly spring up and begin the dance again, to be again exhausted, and so on until they died. The mania involved millions of people.

The Twelve Jurymen.

A prisoner is tried by twelve of his fellow countrymen. This custom is a thousand years old, and we get it from the vikings. The vikings divided their country up into cantons, which were subdivided into twelve portions, each under a chieftain. When a malefactor was brought to justice it was usual for each chieftain to select a man from the district over which he ruled and compel him to try the prisoner, the verdict of these twelve men being declared by the judge to be final.

Made Her Mad.

"I thought I overheard you and your wife quarreling a little while ago. What was the trouble?"

"She brought home a new hat, and after putting it on she turned to me and said she didn't believe it was becoming."

"Well?"

"I agreed with her."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A One Sided Rule.

Once when P. T. Barnum was taking tickets at the entrance of his circus a man asked him if he could go in without paying.

"You can pay without going in," said Barnum, "but you can't go in without paying. The rule doesn't work both ways."

Not by Exclusion.

He—I had a hard time getting a good wife.

She—Goodness! Have you been married several times?

"Oh, no. But I courted my present one six years."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Better a blush in the face than a blot in the heart.—Cervantes.

Clyde Fitch's Joke.

"Clyde Fitch was an indefatigable worker," said an actor who has played in many of the Fitch comedies. "When he had a play on the stocks he would labor over it day and night, often scarcely pausing for his meals and getting very little sleep; consequently his health suffered. He would work until on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and then his physician would step in and force him to knock off.

"During one of these periods of enforced idleness he was lounging in the Players club one day when Harry B. Smith, the prolific comic opera librettist, strolled in.

"'What are you doing now?' asked Smith.

"'I am in my doctor's hands,' replied Fitch. 'He tells me I'm in a bad way and has absolutely forbidden me to do any brain work.'

"'That's tough,' said Smith. 'How do you manage to put in the time?'

"'Oh, I'm writing the libretto of a musical comedy!' replied Fitch, with one of his cynical smiles."—New York Times.

Hair Monstrosities.

French theater managers in the eighteenth century had worse evils than picture hats to contend against. Marie Antoinette, who was short even according to French standards, set the fashion of high coiffures, and ultra-fashionable women prided themselves on measuring four feet from their chins to the tops of their heads. These structures took about six hours to erect, the hairdresser mounting a ladder in the process. Some coiffures were almost as broad as they were long, with wings sticking out about eight inches on each side of the head. For the "frigate" coiffure the hair was rippled in a huge pile to represent the waves of an angry sea and surmounted by a fully rigged ship. As a consequence of these monstrosities disturbances in theaters occurred almost daily until an ordinance was issued against the admission of women with high coiffures to the floor of the house.—Chicago News.

Yet He Meant Well.

Just as the train was leaving the Fifty-eighth street elevated station a man who had got off there hurried along the platform and spoke to a passenger sitting by an open window in the smoking car.

"Quick!" he cried. "Please hand me that package. I left it on the seat when I got out just now."

"Sure," said the passenger, picking up the bundle and tossing it out of the window.

"Thanks!"

"Hey, there! What are you doing that for?" demanded the wrathful, red faced man sitting next to him.

"Why, he"—

"You double dyed idiot, that package belonged to me! It was $15 worth of laces and ribbons I was taking home to my wife!"

Over the scene that followed let us draw a veil.—Chicago Tribune.

"All Things Come."

The magnate looked up impatiently from his work.

"Well, my good man," he snapped at the diffident rural person who stood twirling his rusty hat, "what can I do for you?"

"I guess ye don't remember me, Hank," faltered the caller. "But you an' me use ter go swimmin' together in th' ol' town. Then you got a job in th' bank, an' I got a job in th' grocery store."

"This is all very interesting, and I seem to remember your face. But come to the point—my time is valuable."

"Yes, Hank. You got a better offer and left the old village. I stayed plugging along in th' grocery store."

"Well, well?"

"Well, Hank, when you left you owed $73.62 on a grocery bill. Here's where you pay up!"—Cleveland Leader.

Perfumes In Ancient Days.

Old as the history of the world itself is that of the queen of flowers. The ancient Greeks and Romans reveled in roses. They were used lavishly at their feasts. In the time of the republic the people had their cups of Falernian wine swimming with blooms, and the Spartan soldiers after the battle of Cirrha refused to drink any wine that was not perfumed with roses, while at the regatta of Baiae the whole surface of the Lucrine lake was strewn with flowers.

Making a Lawn.

On his English tour an American was admiring the velvety smoothness of a certain sward, and, being possessed of land and an overpowering confidence that with money all things are possible, he asked the head gardener how to produce such a lawn. And the gardener said: "It's easy enough, sir. All you need do is to remove all the stones, plow up the ground, plant it with grass seed and roll it for 300 years."

Our Friends.

If we choose our friends for what they are, not for what they have, and if we deserve so great a blessing, then they will be always with us, preserved in absence and even after death, in the amber of memory.—Cicero.

Couldn't Talk.

De Style—You say that loving pair of deaf mutes were sitting in the parlor and didn't carry on a conversation? Gunbusta—They couldn't, for they were holding hands.—New York Press.

I never knew an early rising, hard-working, prudent man, careful of his earnings and strictly honest, who complained of bad luck.—Addison.

A Woman's Solution

By JANE PINCKNEY BENNETT

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"Please consider our engagement broken," she snapped.

"Have you considered it broken?"

"What do you mean?"

"I mean have you thought over the consequences of a broken engagement between us? We have been engaged for a month; all our friends know that we are lovers"—

"Were lovers."

"Supposed to be lovers."

"That's more like it."

"Now suppose we announce that all is off between us. People will naturally be curious to know the reason."

"It is none of their business."

"But they will make it their business."

"I shall tell them that I have been very much disappointed in you."

"And what shall I say about it?"

"What you like."

"I shall say I discovered that I am unworthy of a girl with so much amiability."

There was no reply to this.

"What is to be considered in the matter is whether you contemplate renewing our engagement after it has once been broken."

"Never."

"Very well; so far so good. In that case I am free to engage myself to whosoever I please."

"And it is my privilege to do the same."

"Certainly. Tomorrow evening we dine at the Spinglers'. Naturally I shall be expected to take you in to dinner. This will be embarrassing for both of us. Had you not better send word to Mrs. Spingler that our engagement is off?"

She pondered a few moments, toying with her engagement ring, which she had pulled off her finger, then said:

"Mrs. Spingler is a very prying woman and a frightful gossip. She'll wish to know all about how it happened and if she is not informed will give her own version of it to every one present and every one not present."

"That is one of the points to be considered, or, rather, was one of the points to be considered. It's too late now. You have dismissed me and said that you will never recall me. We are both free to marry some one else."

There was a pause here. She slipped the engagement ring over the point of her finger, as though afraid he was about to take it away. Then she said:

"The breaking of our engagement is one thing; its announcement to the world is another. Is it necessary that we should announce it through Mrs. Spingler?"

"We might give it out today to some one else."

"It seems singular that you, who have so many times sworn that you loved me, can't bear the idea of sitting beside me for an hour or two at a dinner party."

"What would we talk about?"

"The weather, I suppose."

"No, thank you; I don't go to dinners to talk about the weather. But let us leave this subject of the dinner and agree upon a reason to give our friends for our quarrel."

"We will give them the true one, of course."

"And that is?"

"Your horrible treatment of me."

"Please frame a statement of it."

"Oh, you are better at stating things than I am. Frame it yourself. Any version you give of it will be satisfactory to me."

"Very well; I shall put it in this way: It started—what started it? I've forgotten."

"Why, it was something about—wasn't it about—funny I can't remember what started it. I only know that you acted horribly."

"Well, then, we will put it in that way. We'll say that we can't remember what the quarrel was about, but I acted horribly."

"That would be considered very silly of us."

"Silly of you, I fear."

"Not if they knew how horribly you have acted."

"What did I say or do?"

"Everything that was disagreeable."

"Name one."

"Oh, how bothersome you are! How can I tell you what you said when I can't remember what it was about?"

"I suppose then we are to announce to the world that, not being able to remember the cause of our quarrel, it is impossible to give a cause for the breaking of our engagement."

"That would be too ridiculous for anything. People would laugh at us."

"Upon the whole, I think you were right when you said that it's none of people's business why we have agreed to part. We will give no reason."

"Do you think that would be possible?"

"No; I don't. But since I've not been able to suggest any feasible cause myself I've fallen back upon your own suggestion."

There was no reply to this, only a stolid stare at the floor, while the fingering of the engagement ring continued.

"Come," he said presently. "I leave it all to you. Decide what course we shall take. Name a way out of the dilemma."

They were sitting side by side. She dropped her hand on his. She had slipped the engagement ring back on her finger. He put his arm about her waist, drew her to him and kissed her.

"A woman's solution," he said.

Reckless.

"Aw, come on!" the little boy was heard to remark. "Be a sport. I'll bet yer apy amount o' money up to 5 cents."—Harper's.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

V.—Social Life In the Country.

By C. V. GREGORY.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

THE social life and amusements of the country are essentially different from those in the city. "I have heard people say that there is no such thing as social life in the country, but inquiry disclosed the fact that they never had spent much time in a modern, wide awake farm community. The foundation of all social life is in the home. It is in the country that the home is developed to the highest extent, and it necessarily follows that it is in the country that the strongest basis for a healthy social life exists.

The social life of the so called "society" people of the city does not exist in the country, and it is a blessing to the country that it does not. Such a social life is unnatural. Social life is primarily for amusement, recreation and development. Where is the amusement or the recreation in the struggle for social recognition by a clique whom a turn of the wheel of fortune has brought uppermost? Where is the development unless it be the development of heartaches on the part of the wife and poverty on the part of the husband? Such a society, where people are measured by their money rather than by their true worth, is snobbery rather than social life.

Outside the "society" circles the social life of the city consists largely of amusements—Coney Island and its imitators, theaters and public dances. Some of these things are all right in their way. They furnish amusement and recreation. But they do not furnish development.

Here is where the great advantage of country social life comes in. It is not furnished ready made to those who have the price. Social diversions in the country are made to order. That is the reason why some people do not like them, and that is why a person who once really gets into the spirit of country social life is never afterward satisfied with social affairs in which he cannot have an active part.

The social possibilities of the country are not taken advantage of in all communities, it is true. In too many places each family is content to live by itself, with as little intercourse as possible with the neighbors. It is such communities that contribute most largely to the townward flow of population. With the general waking up of the farming districts is coming a broadening of social life. In some places the local church is the social center, but too often there are some members who consider so harmless a thing as an ice cream supper to help pay the preacher a sin. As a result the importance of the church as a social factor is not what it should be.

The most important centers of social life in the country are farmers' organizations of various kinds. Probably the most important of these, because the most extensive, is the grange. The grange has been in existence for forty-four years and numbers at present more than 1,000,000 members. In those communities where it has obtained a strong hold it is very effective in bringing the people together. In the older states a grange neighborhood can be told by the looks of the farms and buildings.

The plan of the local grange is to hold meetings at regular intervals, usually once a week in the winter and sometimes as infrequently as once a month in the summer. Generally these meetings are held at the home of one of the members. The whole family belongs. As a rule, there is a literary program in connection with the meeting, where the boys and girls learn to talk in public. Part of the program is devoted to agricultural topics, as one of the objects of the grange is education in farming. There is always enough amusement mixed in, however, to keep the children interested. In the winter the meetings begin in the afternoon, and the men look over the stock and talk over their problems while the children play and the women "visit."

In addition to the grange, there are many local farmers' clubs that are doing a great deal to bring their members together socially. The only reason that there are not more such organizations is the lack of some one to take the lead. The cities have so long been drawing the best blood from some rural communities that in many places there is precious little left to build upon. With the changing conditions that are restoring the farm to a leading place in our national life there will be no lack of leaders, and the time will come when every community will have its club or grange.

In the Mississippi valley states, where industrial co-operation has obtained a strong foothold, co-operative picnics are one of the principal diversions. These are big affairs, including all the people for miles around. There are speeches and amusements and plenty to eat, and every one goes home happy.

A number of country towns and rural communities have a "field day" once or twice a year, which is in the nature of a big picnic, at which athletic contests predominate.

Local Fourth of July celebrations give the country boys a chance to work off their patriotism for a week in advance in helping to get things ready, and they enjoy the day a great deal more than they would a ready made celebration in a big town, where all they could do would be to stand on the side lines and shout. The best part of these affairs is that they develop originality and initiative on the part of the young people. It teaches them to develop any latent ability for leadership which they may possess. The boy who can get together nine farmer boys on Saturday afternoons and organize them into a ball team that can win from the neighboring township is the one who is going to be able to do things when he gets older. It is no small task to make an effective team out of nine boys when eight of them want to pitch and the other couldn't catch a ball to save his life.

It is the farm boys of today who will be foremost in the agricultural communities of tomorrow. One of the most important of the social factors affecting farm life is a boys' club. Nebraska has a well developed system of boys' and girls' corn clubs. There are a few in Iowa and Illinois, and more are being organized. The members of these clubs each have their plot of corn. They meet around from place to place, get better acquainted with one another and study corn growing. Often an experienced corn grower meets with them and gives them some practical lessons. In some cases these clubs are under the supervision of the agricultural college, which sends out letters of instruction to the boys every two weeks or so. In the winter a corn contest is held at the agricultural college. Some of the counties have local contests. There are prizes for the best corn and for the best corn judging. Often the boys who do the best work at the local contests have their expenses paid to the state contest at the agricultural college. Similar contests in cooking and sewing are held for the girls. Work of this kind is an inspiration to the boys and girls. They begin to see some of the real enjoyment of farm life.

This work is being extended to the boys of the cities by means of summer camps, where the boys are taken for a vacation, at the same time getting instruction and object lessons in agriculture. Many a boy who otherwise would have spent his life in town working for somebody else is thus started on the way to become an independent farmer.

Another big factor in rural social life is the country literary society. This reaches more people than a grange or a club can reach. Its disadvantage is that the membership is so large that only a few can appear on the programs. But a great many can listen, and they eagerly avail themselves of the opportunity. The country literary society when rightly managed combines both the social and the educational features and is a great uplift to the community.

Along with these other social factors come the local lecture courses. The talent is not always the best, but usually it is surprisingly good. Then there are ice cream suppers, picnics and fishing excursions in the summer and oyster suppers in the winter. The women often have a ladies' aid society, where they can meet and sew and visit to their hearts' content. The men have a fraternal order or two, where they can get together on Saturday evening. During the last few years the Y. M. C. A. has been extending to the country and doing a great deal of good work. Often clubrooms and a gymnasium are established, where the neighborhood boys can meet and try their athletic skill. Where such rooms have taken the place of the grocery store as an evening meeting place for the boys and young men there is a noticeable improvement in the community.

During vacations, when the young people are home from school, there is no lack of social diversions that appeal especially to them. There is just as much culture among these modern young people of the country as there is among the same classes in the city and much more whole heartedness. The country dances and parties are well conducted affairs and the occasion of much harmless fun. An occasional trip to town to attend the theater by way of the trolley line or in automobiles or in a big sleigh gives variety to the amusements.

Taking all these factors together, the social life found in the most highly developed country communities is superior in almost every way to that found in the cities. The development of this wholesome social life and its more general extension throughout the country will be important factors in turning the tide of population countryward.

ORDINANCE NO. 130.

AN ORDINANCE GRANTING TO E. D. GOODE AND HIS ASSIGNS THE RIGHT TO CONSTRUCT, MAINTAIN AND OPERATE FOR THE PERIOD OF FORTY-SEVEN YEARS AN ELECTRIC RAILROAD OVER CERTAIN STREETS IN THE CITY OF GLENDALE.

The Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. That the right, privilege and franchise is hereby granted to E. D. GOODE, his heirs and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate for the period of forty-seven years an Electric Railroad for the transportation of passengers, to be single or double track, in whole or in part, at the option of the said E. D. Goode or his heirs or assigns, over the route and along and upon the streets or portions of said streets in said city described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at a point in Glendale Avenue where the westerly prolongation of the southerly line of Lot Eight (8) in Block Twenty (20) of the Town of Glendale, as per map recorded in Book 21, pages 89 and 90, Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County, California, intersects a line situated 13 feet easterly from and parallel with the center line of Los Angeles, San Pedro & Salt Lake Railroad; thence northerly parallel with the center line of said railroad to the northerly city boundary line of the City of Glendale.

Together with the right to construct curves and switches and spur tracks into private property, also connections at street intersections, power houses, and all other appliances, property, structures and attachments that may be necessary for the purpose of operating said road, and enabling it to be as effective as the best electric railroad; provided, however, that no spur track into private property shall be built within 500 feet of any spur track already constructed under said franchise, without first securing proper consent of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale.

That the terms and conditions upon which said franchise is hereby granted are the following, to-wit:

First. That the railroad to be constructed and operated under said franchise shall be used for the transportation of passengers, baggage, United States mail, express matter, and such other commodities as can be conveniently handled by an electric railroad, provided that cars other than closed ones, of a neat and attractive design, shall only be conveyed over said road between the hours of nine o'clock p. m. of each day and six o'clock a. m. of the following day; also such material as is used in the construction of the Glendale and Eagle Rock Railway from its northerly beginning to its present eastern terminus in Eagle Rock Valley, existing at this date, and for such other extensions thereof as may from time to time be constructed within the city limits of the City of Glendale.

That the tracks to be laid under said franchise shall be placed thirteen (13) feet from the center line to center line.

Second. That said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall use good material in the construction of said road, and said road shall be built in a good and workmanlike manner, and that said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall, at his or their own cost and expense, oil and re-oil, pave or macadamize the said road between the rails, between the tracks, and for two feet on each side thereof, with the same material used by the city, and under the same specifications and in the same manner as upon the streets over which said roads are respectively, and shall keep the same constantly so paved or macadamized and in repair flush with said streets, and provided with suitable crossings, and shall make the roadbed conform at all times to the established grade of said streets; provided, however, that where any of the above named streets have been graded or otherwise improved prior to the granting of said franchise, said roadbed and rails shall conform to and be flush with the surface of said graded or otherwise improved street or streets, whether such surface be above or below the official grade of said street or streets, and on all other street or streets the said roadbed and rails shall conform to such official grade as aforesaid.

In case the said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall fail to comply with the instructions given for said repairs for ten days after service of notice thereof upon the Superintendent or Manager of said electric railroad, then the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale may, with suitable assistance, enter upon said electric railroad, or any portion thereof, and do the work, and furnish the proper material, and keep an itemized account of the cost thereof, which said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, by the acceptance of this franchise agrees to pay immediately to the Treasurer of the City of Glendale upon the presentation of the account to the Superintendent or Manager of said electric railroad.

Provided further, that cars shall be run over the road constructed under said franchise every day, unless prevented by the elements, riots, strikes or unavoidable causes; provided, also, that cars shall be run over and upon said road at intervals of not more than one (1) hour from seven o'clock a. m. until ten o'clock p. m. of each day, and as much oftener as may be necessary to properly accommodate all persons who apply for transportation over said road, except in times of extraordinary and unforeseen amounts of travel.

Provided further, that said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall have the right to excavate and remove portions of said streets necessary to properly construct said road and to erect needful apparatus, boilers, engines and other appliances to properly equip and run said road; provided further, that the City of Glendale, in granting said franchise, expressly reserves the right to pave, macadamize, renew or sewer any of said streets, or to lay gas, water or other pipes therein; said work to be done so as to injure said road as little as possible.

It is further provided that said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall construct all necessary flumes and culverts for the free passage of water under the tracks of said railroad wherever and wherever necessary, and that all of such flumes and culverts shall be constructed in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the City Engineer, and wherever required by said City of Glendale.

Third. That the said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall and will at all times upon and after the completion of said road, during the operation of the same, and without extra charge, issue to and receive from passengers going in one direction, transfers good for one continuous passage over and upon any and every other line and lines or any other road or roads to any points within the said city, which said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, does now or may hereafter own, control, operate or have a controlling interest in. And provided, as a further condition, that said grantee, and his heirs and assigns, shall and will at all times as aforesaid issue or cause to be issued to said passengers, without extra charge, a similar transfer from any and every other line or lines which said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, does now or may hereafter own, control, operate or have a controlling interest in, within said City of Glendale as aforesaid, to, over and upon the road operated and maintained under said franchise within the city limits of the City of Glendale; and provided further, that such transfers shall be given and received as above provided over and upon all such roads within the city limits of the City of Glendale, whether operated under as franchise granted by said city, or over and upon private rights-of-way owned or occupied by said roads within the city limits of the City of Glendale.

Fourth. That the rate of fare for any distance within the city limits over said road or its branches one way in the same direction shall not exceed five cents per one passenger; that persons under the age of eighteen years who attend the public schools of said city shall be required to pay but half fare; provided that said pupils shall purchase their tickets in quantities of at least a dollar's worth at a time, such tickets to be available only between the hours of eight o'clock a. m. and six o'clock p. m., in actual passage to and from school, and the said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall sell such tickets whenever requested so to do, when schools are in session, by a pupil who shall present a certificate from a teacher, approved by the principal of such school, that he or she is a pupil of the said school;

Provided further, that said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall carry free on said cars the City Marshal and deputies, and all regular police officers and firemen of said city, when on duty, and letter carriers, subject at all times to the rules of the road.

Fifth. That the said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, shall, during the life of said franchise, pay to the City of Glendale, in lawful money of the United States, two per cent of the gross annual receipts of said E. D. Goode, his heirs or assigns, arising from the use, operation or possession be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of this franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be payable annually, and said franchise is to be forfeited by failure to make the payments provided for, and it shall be the duty of the grantee of said franchise, his heirs or assigns, to file with the City Clerk of the City of Glendale, at the expiration of six years from the date of granting of said franchise, and at the expiration of each and every year thereafter, a statement, verified by the oath of said grantee, his heirs or assigns, and by the oath of the manager or presiding officer of said grantee, or his heirs or assigns, showing the total gross receipts and gross earnings collected or received by the said grantee, his heirs or assigns, during the preceding twelve months, and of said grantee, his heirs or assigns, and within ten days after the time for filing such statement it shall be the duty of said grantee, his heirs or assigns, to pay to the City Treasurer of the said City of Glendale the aggregate sum of said percentage upon the gross annual receipts arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise.

Provided, that if the road for which said franchise is granted shall be an extension of an existing system of railroad, then the gross receipts shall be estimated to be one-half of the proportion of the total gross receipts of said system which the mileage of such extension bears to the total mileage of the whole system, and said estimate shall be conclusive as to the amount of the gross receipts of said extension.

Sixth. That the work of constructing said road shall be commenced in good faith within not more than four months from the date of the granting of said franchise, and shall be prosecuted thereafter in good faith and without unnecessary or avoidable intermission or delay, and that said work of construction shall be completed within not more than three years thereafter, and if said work be not so comemnced, prosecuted and completed within the times or in the manner specified, such franchise shall be forfeited.

Seventh. That all poles used in the construction and operation of said electric road shall be placed within the curb line of the streets herein designated as officially established by the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, and the outer edge of poles shall in all cases be set as near the inner edge of the curb as practicable, when not otherwise directed by said Board of Trustees, and the wires suspended from said poles shall not at any point be less than nineteen (19) feet above the top of the rail; said poles shall be smooth, straight, and painted in uniform color.

That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of said franchise shall thereupon immediately, ipso facto, effect a forfeiture thereof, and the said city, by its Board of Trustees, may thereupon declare said franchise forfeited, and may exclude said grantee, his heirs or assigns, from further use of the streets of said city, under said franchise, and said grantee, his heirs or assigns, shall thereupon and immediately surrender all rights in and to the same, and said franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null, void and of no effect.

SECTION 2. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this ordinance by two-thirds of all the members of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, and shall cause the same to be published once in the "GLENDALE NEWS," a weekly newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in said City of Glendale, and thereupon and thereafter it shall take effect and be in full force.

Respond to Blue Eyes.

"Every little while physiologists come to the front with some advantage accruing to people who have blue eyes," said the city salesman. "Well, I discovered a point that they have never mentioned. A jeweler told me. He is manager of the jewelry department of a big store. I applied to him for a situation for my wife's cousin.

"'What's the color of her eyes?' he asked.

"'Brown,' I said.

"'Bring her down and I will take a look at her,' he said, 'but I am afraid she won't do. People with a certain shade of blue eyes make the best jewelry salesmen. Many customers who buy jewelry want some one to try it on so they can get the effect of the stones when worn. There is something about deep blue eyes that brings out the best lights in most jewels. Take notice and you will find that two-thirds of the jewelry salesmen in New York have blue eyes.'"—New York Times.

Stingy Queen Bess.

Every one who ever did anything for Queen Bess seems to have been left with a bad debt on his books. So we find an unfortunate John Conley writing to Sir Robert Cecil that for the last two years he had been suitor for £100 for "beeves for the army" and complaining that "unless some order be taken I shall be undone." Sir Edward Hastyngs, after spending his life in serving the queen, had to pawn his wife's jewels and beg her majesty "to bestow something upon me in this my latter age." So badly was the fleet that beat the Armada provisioned that Francis Drake had to seize at Plymouth ninety bags of rice, and the unfortunate owner, after ten years' waiting, was refused payment, "rice being an extraordinary victual not allowed for the navy." Nor did common soldiers fare better. The chief anxiety of the queen, it seems, was how, to her view, to have been how to save most money.—London Telegraph.

An Unnecessary System.

"You ought to have a burglar alarm system in your house," said the electrical supply agent, "so that you will be awakened if a burglar raises one of the windows or opens a door at night."

"No burglar can get in here while we are peacefully sleeping," replied Mr. Newpop. "We are weaning our baby."—Chicago Record-Herald.

On Thursday evening Miss Marple was given a spoon shower by Miss Clara Boeker at her home in Los Angeles. There were about fifty guests at this affair.

THE P. E. FENCE.

The Pacific Electric Company has again reconsidered. They have taken up the fence erected along the Richardson property in Tropico. The right of way is curbed, but not fenced now, and road crossings will be permitted where the property owners desire. This, we understand, is due to the foresight of the Richardsons when the original right of way was given, they having retained some rights which other donors thoughtlessly surrendered. The railroad fence remains on the right of way line from the Glendale city limits southward to Tropico avenue, which, with Park and Cypress streets and Tropico avenue, remains open.

EAGLE ROCK NOTES.

Miss Mary Flacks is now entirely recovered from her recent illness.

Considerable talk has been circulated concerning compulsory vaccination of school children, but as no official orders have been received as yet, there need be no alarm whatever over the matter.

Mrs. Nanno Woods has composed a song and set the same to music, which gives promise of becoming a popular air in this section. It is entitled "Where the Orange Blossoms Bloom," and will be published in a few days.

IN THE HIGH MOUNTAINS.

Miss M. Alpha Clement writes to friends, from Daunt, Cal., most glowing accounts of the delightful time she is having in the high mountain country back of Porterville. At Hossick Meadows, one morning recently, there was frost on the ground until the sun arose. The summit of the ridge that the party passed over on one of its various trips has an elevation of 8,500 feet, and from that viewpoint a splendid panorama of the valley was spread out before the travelers, affording a view of the Porterville and Exeter country, and as far south as the Tehachapi mountains. Small meadows of from five to ten acres in extent, covered by green grass and fed by small streams of water, are features of the higher mountain country. At many places along the trails, wild plums, currants and elderberries grow in profusion. Trout abound in the streams, and, altogether, the conditions for camping out are ideal. Miss Clement expects to return to Glendale in a few days.

Huff Bros. have a contract for a house for Mr. Barrett, corner of Third and Columbus.

N. C. Kelly has plans for and expects to commence soon the erection of a two-story brick building on the corner of Stocker and Central avenue. There will be store rooms below and apartments above.

The Co-operative Building Co., has added 30 acres to its tract of land at Glassell Park on the Verdugo Road and will continue the work of constructing residences for sale on easy terms. Of the seventeen houses put up there by this concern, one-half are already occupied.

Mr. Pigg, manager for the Peerless Company has commenced work on five houses to be erected by that company on Doran street.

The mention in the NEWS last week of a four-story building to be erected on Fourth street was premature, it should have read "four stores." We understand that the structure that Mr. Peckham will erect on Fourth street adjoining the Hurtt block will be a one-story brick of two stores at least and possibly four.

Mr. R. H. Brown, just east of the Glendale city limits, will open and improve Lincoln street and Eagledale avenue running north through his property to Sixth street. Tupper & Co. will put a continuation of Eagledale avenue through the eight-acre piece they recently acquired of Bromwitch, which will carry it north to Third street.

Tupper & Co. have also a new subdivision in Verdugo Canyon, consisting of about seven acres.

THE LARGEST MUSKMELON.

There has been on exhibition in the window of the NEWS office for the last two days, a muskmelon weighing 32 pounds. Its circumference is 32 inches one way and 34 inches another. It is a hybrid with some of the characteristics of the Casaba, and is doubtless the result of a cross between that variety and a fine melon produced from seed brought from Persia, both kinds being grown on Somerset Farm on Verdugo Road, Glendale, by Mr. J. C. Sherer.

The same grower produced two years ago a melon somewhat similar to this specimen, weighing 29 pounds, which up to that time had the record for muskmelon weight. The quality is strictly first-class, as anyone will testify who has sampled smaller specimens of the same kind that have been on the local market for some weeks past. As usual with our show products, it was grown without irrigation or special care.

BY THE LIGHT OF THE SILVERY MOON.

Monday evening the Senior class of nurses at the sanitarium celebrated in honor of John R. Ranson, the only masculine member of the class, who is soon to leave their midst to pursue a course of study in a medical school.

Early in the evening a hilarious party of twenty-nine, including the class, its instructors and intimate friends, embarked in a large hay-rack and set out in search of adventure. They started for Hollywood. Late in the evening they discovered themselves on the top of a very high hill where the moonbeams beat down upon them unmercifully. Here they reveled in a midnight feast, horribly unhealthy but all the more enjoyable.

In the wee small hours they returned home tired and happy, wishing they could do it all over again.

Insure and list your property with the Tropico Real Estate Co. Corner Park Ave. and Brand Blvd., also Lomita Ave. and Brand Blvd. We get results.

KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH HOME

IT IS WONDERFUL HOW MUCH SATISFACTION CAN BE OBTAINED FROM A TALK OVER THE BELL TELEPHONE

A letter carries words, but the Bell Service has been brought up to such a point of perfection that the modulations of the voice are clearly heard.

The cheery tones show that the talker is well and in good spirits. The call may come from a suburban village or a distant city, but within the limits of the carrying power of the voice the Bell Service carries the tone as well. You get a personal interview with a friend hundreds of miles away.
